SHARON HIGH SCHOOL
STUDIUM VIRTUS DILIGENTIA PROBITAS
1877

The words studium, virtus, diligentia, and probitas, can be seen all around us: on the seal which is inscribed on the Sharon High book covers, on the seal inlaid in the floor of the auditorium foyer, imprinted on the school rings. Few of us think about or even know the meanings of these words. And yet, through the fine example of our outstanding administration and faculty, we all strive to live up to the ideals embodied in studium, virtus, diligentia, and probitas: zeal, excellence, diligence, and uprightness. These words apply to all phases of our life at Sharon High School: faculty, seniors, underclassmen, extra curricular activities and sports. The pages of the 1964 Marsengold will portray the vital part these four small words have played in our years of learning, and growing, and preparing for the future at Sharon High School.

"O Captain, My Captain . . ."

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
1917 - 1963

"O Captain! my Captain! rise up and hear the bells;
Rise up—for you the flag is flung—for you the bugle trills,
For you bouquets and ribboned wreaths—for you the shores acrowding,
For you they call the swaying mass, their eager faces turning;
Here Captain! dear father!
This arm beneath your head!
It is some dream that on the deck
You've fallen, cold and dead."

—Walt Whitman

Yet November 22, 1963 was not a dream, but a day that will lang live as a shacking nightmare in the hearts of Americans, and af all people. Our nation has suffered an immeasurable loss in the fall of the man wha was at once our president, our leader, our companion, our friend . . . And all nations who seek peace have lost a man wha gave them confidence and hape for the future. Far now, John F. Kennedy belongs to the ages, his own martyred life the concluding pages of "Profiles In Courage".

from the Editor

In producing the 1964 edition of the yearbook,
The editors and staff of the Marsengold
Have had but one goal in mind:
To create a volume that will truly capture
The year 1964
in both pictures and words,
So that it would be a permanent record
Of a wonderful year.
After much work and effort,
Time and thought,
Our task is completed.
We are proud to present
The 25th edition
Of the Sharon High School Yearbook;
Marsengold, 1964

TO MISS CHASE AND
MR. BLANCHON

Many classes have gaad advisars, a few have wanderful advisars, and once in a while, a class, like aurs, is blessed with twa advisars sa dedicated and cancerned, sa patient and helpful, that they really make an invaluable cantributian ta the high schaal years. We awe Miss Chase and Mr. Blanchan sa much for their time, sa freely given, and mare impartant, their advice and understanding. Who else would have put up with "Mather Goase Goes ta High Schaal", or warked sa hard to help create the warld af "Carausel"? Miss Chase and Mr. Blanchon's cantributians have not been limited ta aur class alane, but they have each made many cantributions ta the schoal as a whale.

Far thirty-eight years, students have been caming to Miss Chase for help with everything fram "ama, amas, amat . . .", to advice an haw ta twist ta a Latin rhythm far the Slave Auctian, ar aid an a project far helping the needy thraugh the Junior Red Cross. Thraugh the years, Miss Chase has made the Latin caurses a vital and interesting part af the curriculum at Sharan High Schaal. Her faunding af the Juniar Classical League has given students the appartunity ta gain an insight into Raman life and culture. Miss Chase has alsa devated much time ta the Juniar Red Crass, warking with students that they may help others.

In his five years at Sharan High Schaal Mr. Blanchan has dedicated time, effort and thaught inta making his histary classes af the fine quality that they are. His imaginatian and sense of humar have made his classes interesting and enjoyable, but what is more important, he has instilled in his students the desire ta learn. It is his pioneer wark in saccer that has made this spart such as impartant part of Sharan High Schaol taday. With his help, guidance and devatian ta the team, the Rebels have became champians, pramating much schaal spirit and pride.

Therefare the Class af 1964 dedicates this Marsengold ta yau, Miss Chase and Mr. Blanchan, bath in appreciatian far yaur effarts an behalf of aur class, and in recagnitian af yaur many fine cantributians ta Sharon High Schoal.

FACULTY

DILIGENCIA

. . . strength, excellence, vigor

At Sharon High School, a teacher is more than just an instructor, and he is expected to convey more than just subject matter. Our teachers work constantly to instill in us the ideals of our school, and to prepare us to live as successful and intelligent citizens. They must act as guides, counselors, and examples for us. For these tasks, "above and beyond the call of duty," they must possess the qualities of Diligencia — strength, excellence, and vigor. They must have the strength of their convictions, and never falter in their encouragement and counsel; they must have the basic excellence necessary for them to live as examples themselves, and advise us wisely when we turn to them for help. Faced with these "double duties," our faculty still finds time to take leadership, vigorously carrying out the responsibilities of advisors, coaches, and directors for many extra-curricular activities.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The main objective of the English department is to help the students to improve their obility to communicate. For written communication, grammar and form are stressed as well as creativity ond clarity. Since literature is the written record by which the communicotion of ideos is preserved, the literature of the past and the present is studied. Most important, in improving ones writing obility, is octual writing. The students are required to do themes, parographs, short stories, and essoy tests to ocquire this experience.

Oral communication of ideas is taught through the study of dramas, an art form which depends upon the spoken work, and the presentotion of panel discussion, and oral reports. Some English classes prepare plays and present them to student audiences.

The English department's two part program, stressing written and oral communication prepares the student to use the English language skillfully.

1783 was a momentous year for the Republic, this Commonwealth, our community ond for human rights. Officiolly this nation become independent of Great Brition; the incorporated town of Stoughtonham yielded its name to more modern Sharon. A judicial decree interpreted the three-year old Massochusetts Constitution os hoving in foct ended slavery. The words were then and now, "oll men are born free and equol." This action expressed itself in the stotistics of the first United States Census in 1790; only our Stote hod no slaves to report.

SOCIAL STUDIES

GEOGRAPHY, PROBLEMS OF DEMOCRACY and two years of UNITED STATES HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT.

"Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness" is not only a famous expression. Our government (we ourselves) allows us to pursue happiness; its capture is not guaranteed. We must not rest on the laurels of the past alone. An able, watchful and forward-looking body of citizens is vital to this way of life. Of course it is easier to be followers, but we must need good leaders. The line, "There goes the crowd; I must follow, for I'm their leader", should not result in a smug smile but rather in a challenged citizenry which both appreciates the past and endeavors to improve the future.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

At the beginning, math may have been all "Greek" to the students at Sharon High School, but by the end of their courses, they were familiar with the Greek alphabet, from alpha (α) and beta (β), to pi (π) and theta (θ), as well as the formulas and equations they are used in.

The Mathematics department of Sharon High School prepares the student for future study or work through an excellently planned and more than adequate program consisting of a possible five years of basic and advanced mathematics. Starting with Elementary Algebra and Business Mathematics the courses range through intermediate Algebra to Calculus and Analytic Geometry.

"Don't tell me I odded wrong! It took me 15 minutes just to put this equation on the board!"

Language Department Meets Needs Of Students

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

In the French courses, understanding and listening comprehension are stressed in early stages of study. This year more than ever, oral work was emphasized with our increased lab facilities. There the students benefit from taped stories, drills, and exercises. Throughout the French courses, vocabulary and grammar are included along with other work, giving the students a sound basis for the work in literature which is undertaken in French III and IV.

In Latin, the students do many projects on subjects related to Latin and to Roman life. They also study grammar and vocabulary of the Latin language, which are the basis for both English and French. In second, third, and fourth year Latin, the works of great authors, such as the AENEAD by Virgil, are studied. These courses give the students not only a knowledge of the language, but also an insight into Roman life and thought.

Knowledge of more than one foreign language is becoming very necessary in our world today, and the Language Department at Sharon High is continuing to do an excellent job in preparing the students to meet this demand.

Great minds with but a single thought.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

In today's world, science is playing a more important role than ever before. At Sharon High, the students are taught to seek the "why" of things. In Biology, the "why" of life is taught, in chemistry, the "why" of the elements around us, and in physics, the "why" of change and motion. The student is taught to take the initiative in seeking the answers through experiments and projects. Courses such as Biology and Science III, have been added recently to the standard courses of Biology, general Biology, Chemistry, and Science I and II. All of these courses help prepare Sharon High students for the challenges of the future years.

It is often said that the whole equals the sum of its parts, but 187 students add up to more than a group of 187 people. It adds up to a senior class, a whole which supercedes its parts. The class as a unit has a spirit, a drive, even a sense of humor all its own. Through all the memory filled years — years of senior play, junior prom, misery of finals, excitement of basketball season, and most of all the joy, expectation, hesitation, and anxiety which accompany graduation — a subtle change has been taking place. The ideals encompassed in Studium, Virtus, Diligentia, and Probitas pervade the entire atmosphere at Sharon High, and have been instilled in us during our high school years, creating bonds which will last for the rest of our lives.

Step out of the world of reality, into the world of Carousel — through the rose-covered archway, into the magic ring of pastel streamers circled by prancing horses. Many followed this path as months of frenzied preparations were finally realized on May 10, 1963, the night of our Junior Prom. The highlights of the Prom were the traditional Grand March, led by the class officers, and the crowning of our queen, Mary Beth Thornton. As the end of a wonderful evening of dancing on a "carousel," prom goers reluctantly dispersed into the night protected from the drenching rain by umbrellas of lingering memories.

"THE CURIOUS SAVAGE"

SENIOR PLAY

"And if I laugh at any mortal thing—
'Tis that I may not weep."

And laugh is what the audience did when the seniors presented John Patrick's Curious Savage on November 15. An underlying tone of seriousness surrounded the "guests" of the "Cloisters," an electricity-hating "artist," an elegant mother, a frustrated violinist, a war-scarred pianist, and a love-seeking "beauty." The major plot, however, was one of keen humor. It revolved around a blue-haired heiress hiding her money from her greedy step-children in her oversized teddy bear.

A record audience attested to the merits of Mr. Newton, our able director, the cast and committees. Backstage and on it, the spirits and capabilities of the Class of '64 were channeled to make their Senior Play a truly memorable event.

"There's a mouse in the hall! . . "

"My Patience is EXHAUSTED!"

"What have you done with the money!?!"

CLASSES

PROBITAS

. . . honesty, worth, uprightness

During the high school years, the growing and maturing years, perhaps no quality is as important as Probitas — honesty, worth, and uprightness. It is only through honestly evaluating oneself that growth and improvement can be accomplished, and through honestly seeking and accepting help, that the problems encountered during these years may be solved. The worth of each individual is shown by the way he meets each new challenge — the worth of a class, by its accomplishments. Most of all, uprightness is important during these years, for it serves as a firm basis upon which to build the future.

CLASS OF 1965

OFFICERS

Seated: T. Kalb, Treasurer; R. Jacob, President; Miss Newton, Advisor. Standing: Mr. Konsavage, Advisor; H. Steinberg, Vice President; B. Goldstein, Secretary.

Struggling through the Junior year is one of the most trying and rewarding experiences of high school.

This year new worries were added to the old standards: the goal of being accepted to college or business school, the variety of tests—from PSAT's to C. E. E. B. S. —, the new responsibilities of upperclassmen, and, of course, the hard work toward good grades. Even so, the Juniors found time to hold many positions of leadership in school activities and to present two fine dances.

Although it was Friday the thirteenth, Mr. Lucky was a tremendous success. Their prom, in May, proved a perfect end to an eventful year.

FRESHMAN CLASS REPORT

After the first few days of continually getting lost and going to the wrong classes at the wrong times, the freshman class took its place as an important part of the school. Among other things, they will remember Ancient History, Iowa tests and Julius Caesar. By supporting and participating in athletic events and by sponsoring their dance, the freshman class showed school spirit and a promise to contribute much to Sharon High School in the coming three years.

ACTIVITIES

DILIGENCIA

. . . activity, diligence, industry

In our extra-curricular program, students, working with teachers, explore many varied fields of interest, which could not possibly be covered in a regular school day. The subjects investigated in these groups enhance the regular courses offered at Sharon High. Working with Diligencia — activity, diligence, and industry, students study areas directly connected with school-work in such clubs as the Latin and French clubs, as well as more diverse areas in such clubs as the ski and art clubs. Activity is stressed, for here each student is urged to contribute to the group in an area of personal interest. Diligence has led to the great amount of trust and responsibility given to the students themselves in running these groups, and industry is developed in the many groups, such as the Jr. Red Cross, which are geared to helping others, and in the school service bodies which are responsible for many school activities.

EAGLE STAFF

This year the Eagle staff endeavored to produce a better newspaper than ever before. Subsidies from the School Committee made it possible to use linotype rather than mimeographing for printing the newspapers. A new staff arrangement was established in order to provide accommodations for the growing number of members. The members of staff "A", under the leadership of Mrs. Gorman, wrote the copy for the actual newspaper and the members of staff "B", under the direction of Miss Haynes, learned the techniques of journalistic writing.

The staff of the Eagle participated in many other activities other than writing. The annual dance to raise money for the Student Activities Scholarship Fund was successfully presented. Editors attended many interesting press conferences on journalism sponsored by the Boston Globe.

In each issue of the Eagle, many articles on current events at Sharon High School, student opinions on pertinent questions, and regular features such as "mystery couple" and "letters to the editor" made interesting and informative reading for the student body.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science is of extreme importance today in our highly competitive world. Accordingly, the Sharon High School Science Club has been established to assist our budding scientists in further research in fields of their choice. At the weekly meetings, the members have the opportunity to satisfy their scientific curiosity by actually performing experiments, and by observing others. Besides providing enjoyment, the Science Club also aids its members by greatly furthering their knowledge, and provides them with an enriched background for entering into the science field in college.

THE MATH CLUB

The Math Club in its second year at Sharon High, is composed of a group of curious, probing students with a special interest in mathematics. At their weekly meetings, they may discuss anything from basic logic as applied to math, to College Board Exams. Often times Mrs. Reardon, the club's advisor, presents different facets of math not touched upon in the course of regular classroom work. The club as a whole is in the process of compiling a mathematics library, containing all the textbooks used in Sharon High, and other related volumes for the purpose of providing an adequate reference shelf for the school. In the future the club hopes to delve into such topics as Bulean Algebra, other munber systems, and computer math.

GLEE CLUB AND CHORUS

After the first few weeks of auditions, Miss Marchetti enthusiastically began to mold the Girls' Chorus and Mixed Glee Club. In addition to school concerts and singing at the Interfaith Council program, members of both groups were chosen to represent Sharon at District Chorus and at the 1964 S.E.M.S.B.A. Chorus. The many hours of practicing put in by Miss Marchetti and the members of the Glee Club and Chorus produced a skilled and talented group of which Sharon High School can be proud.

Folk Song Club Sings Out

FOLK SONG CLUB

One of the newer clubs, one that has been met with an eager response from students, is the Folk Song Club. Once every week its members meet to sing, give instructions on playing the banjo and guitar, and listen to records. One of the purposes of the club is to explore all facets of folk music.

The club has already purchased a number of records in some of these fields, and has donated them to the school library. In future weeks, the club hopes to sponsor an assembly on folk music, and even perhaps attend one or two concerts in Boston.

As varied as their interests in the folk music field may be, all of the members are interested in enriching their attraction to folk music. The Folk Song Club gives them an opportunity to accomplish this, as well as a chance to get together and sing.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club, under the direction of Mr. Downing, was formed as a result of a suggestion to the student council. Each week the members bring in their sets — and the game is on. The members are divided into two classes — the experts and the super-experts. They play chess among themselves and set up matches. The chess team has had a winning season, beating such schools as Randolph and Westwood. The club also hopes to have some of its members compete in the State School Boys Chess Tournament.

Keeping The Library Running Smoothly

LIBRARY AIDES

Each year many students give up one or more study halls and lab periods each week to act as library assistants. These students aid Miss Clark tremendously in the running of the library by working at the desk, helping arrange the shelves, fixing new books, and keeping the magazine room in good order. The library club is a good example of the work the students at Sharon High School are doing to help maintain the facilities which are offered to them.

Boys' Gymnastics Club: Coordination And Precision

BOYS' GYMNASTICS CLUB

The Boys' Gymnastics Club is one of which Sharon High may well be proud. The strength, co-ordination and precision with which its members perform is the result of many long hours of practice — after school, on week-ends, and even during vacations. The boys worked constantly to strengthen basic skills and develop new routines. This year, the club participated in several meets, finishing well in all of them.

As in every year, there was a freshman club which enabled its members to learn the use of the various pieces of equipment, while the upperclassmen continued to develop and perfect their routines on the parallel bars, horse, rings, ropes and high bar, as well as in free exercise.

SPORTS

STUDIUM

. . . desire, zeal, eagerness

We at Sharon High take pride not only in the material side of our athletic program — the victories which Sharon teams bring home so unerringly, but also in the spirit, and the ideals with which they compete. The cheers, the tears, the victories and defeats which come with every athletic season at Sharon High are only part of the picture. More important is the spirit which pervades all our athletic activity. This spirit of studium-of desire, eagerness, and hard work is evidenced by our desire to fight for victory and our hard work in training and practicing to perfect the skills necessary to obtain it, but most important by our eagerness to win fairly and exhibit good sportsmanship and teamwork.

SOCCER

The Sharon High Soccer Team had another outstanding season as it again won the South Shore Soccer Association championship, and achieved another undefeated season. The team drew large crowds at its home games, and this year, for the first time, spectator buses were provided to away games. Mr. Blanchon did a fine job coaching as the co-captains, Rick Rosoff and Andy Powell led the team to victory, finishing the 1963 season with ten wins and two ties.

Under the supervision of Mr. Walsh, the Junior Varsity Soccer squad also had a successful season, winning three out of its four scrimmages.

CROSS COUNTRY

A new addition to the Sharon High sports roster this year was Cross Country, an Autumn Sport. Under the able direction and guidance of Coach Coviello, the team practiced for two weeks, running as many as 24 laps a day to get into shape for the first meet, with its two and a half mile course. Team members trotting up and down Pond Street for practice became a familiar sight. The season stretched all the way into mid-November and the Hockomock League meet.

The boys showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm in their first year, and with a little more practice and experience, Sharon High students can look forward to a winning Cross Country Team.

SHARON HIGH SCHOOL

STUDIUM VIRTUS DILIGENTIA PROBITAS

1877

The end of one thing marks the beginning of another . . .

The end of our high school years draws to a close. We have learned and matured in the atmosphere of a fine educational system and high standards. The ideals which have been instilled in us, studium-zeal; virtus-excellence; diligentia-diligence, and probitas-uprightness, have prepared us well for the beginning of another phase of our lives. And so, as an important and memorable part of our lives reaches an end, we embark, well equipped, on the road to the future.
